

11/8/12

Eye on the prize

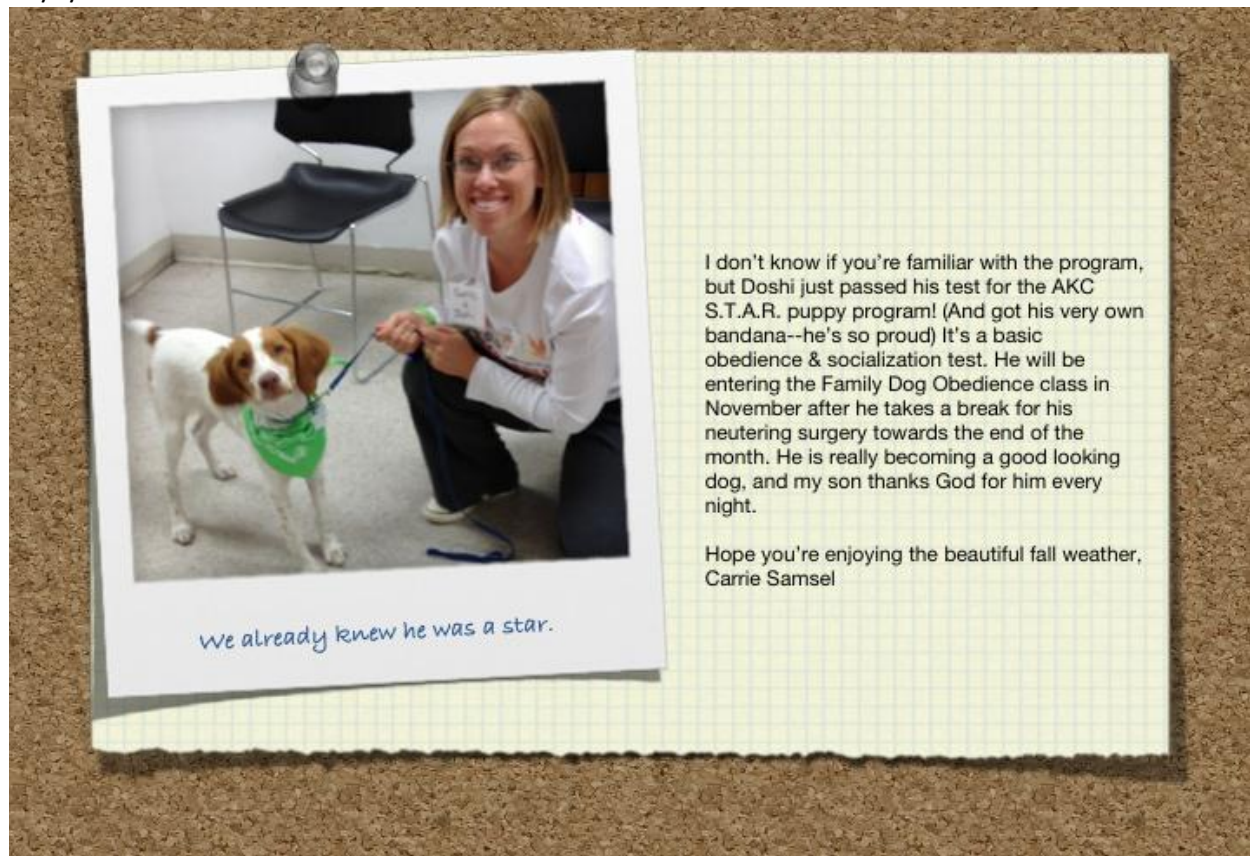

11/1/12

Trick or Treat!

10/3/12

9/18/12

This was taken last night at dog training class. He's getting big! He continues to impress everyone with his obedience and cute face :O). We are going to the Canine Games with him at Purina Farms on Oct. 14, where they let your dog try agility events, lure coursing, fly ball, etc. It sounds like a fun family event! Hope you are well, Carrie

8/9/12

Just wanted to send you a particularly cute pic--hope you guys are well. Carrie

7/6/12

Hi Deb & Roger!

Just wanted to give you an update:

Doshi is really stretching out this last week. He is a very good dog on top of being the cutest pup. He has only had 2 accidents in the house, and those were the first week. He has crate-trained beautifully, and sleeps eight hours a night without crying, bless his heart! He has been very responsive to clicker training, and is learning to sit to say please for most everything. He loves to be on my lap, and we are working to keep his puppy teeth on things other than us :). He had his first puppy class last week, where he played with a black & white Australian shep pup who was the same age as him to the day! They were so cute together. He is a big hunter of bees, and had been stung on the lip once. You'd think that would deter him.

Hope you are well, and enjoying more freedom with less puppies to parent!

Sincerely, Carrie

6/17/12

Doshi's first day....

6/16/12 (pick-up day)

Out cold except at breakfast stop. Unimpressed with collar and lead :)

